FINAL PROGRAMME

Great Lakes Ottoman Workshop 2011*
The University of Cincinnati
Sponsored by the Taft Research Center, the Department of History, and the Department of Judaic Studies
29 April 2011 – 1 May 2011
Max Kade Cultural Center, Room 736 Old Chemistry

Friday, 29 April 2011
5-7
Opening Reception

Saturday, 30 April 2011
9-10
American and Turkish Breakfast

10-12
Gottfried Hagen, The University of Michigan
Text, transmission, and translation: Kâtib Çelebi’s Cihannüma

Murat Yașar, The University of Toronto
The Clash of Ottoman and Muscovite Imperial Policies in the Sixteenth-Century North Caucasus: Master vs. Slave or Brother vs. Brother?

12-1
Buffet lunch

1-3
Özgen Felek, The University of Michigan
Construction of Ottoman Elite Masculinity in the Sixteenth-Century Ottoman court

Vefa Erginbaş, The Ohio State University
The Appropriation of Islamic History in Ottoman Historical Writing, 1300-1650

3-3:30
Coffee Break

3:30-5:30
Julia Phillips Cohen, Vanderbilt University
Economic Ottomanism: Jewish Proponents of Imperial Industry in the Hamidian Era

Lerna Ekmekçioglu, The University of Michigan and M.I.T.
Mush 1889: The Kidnapping of Gülizar

7-9
Dinner

Sunday, 1 May 2011

9-10
American and Turkish breakfast

10-12
G. Carole Woodall, University of Colorado/Colorado Springs
The Dance School: Regulating Space, Regulating Bodies in 1920s Istanbul

Ufuk Adak, The University of Cincinnati
Being a Prisoner in Ottoman Prisons (19th-20th centuries)

Howard Eissenstat, St. Lawrence University
Towards a Denationalized History: The Independence Struggle as Civil War

12-2 Lunch (box lunches provided)
Discussion: Ottoman History and World History, led by Robert Zens, LeMoyne University

GLOW organizing
2012 host and location
The email list (bring your list of addresses!)
A permanent website?

Please contact Lily Frierson at cincinnatIGLOW@gmail.com if you plan to attend and have not yet provided notification.

All meals will have vegetarian, vegan, and gluten-free options.