Food Week
Department of Romance Languages and Literatures

https://www.artsci.uc.edu/departments/rll.html

Tuesday, September 25, 2018

12 pm, Kade Center (736 Old Chemistry, UC): Presentation by Chef Suzy DeYoung, followed by a Q&A. Chef Suzy DeYoung is the founder of La Soupe, a Cincinnati-based organization that bridges the gap between food waste and hunger by rescuing perishable food, transforming it into delicious and nutritious meals, and sharing it with the community.

7 pm, Esquire: Screening of Agnès Varda’s The Gleaners and I, presented by UC Prof. Michael Gott, followed by a panel discussion about the film in the context of culture, cuisine and sustainability with Chef Suzy DeYoung and UC Professors Michael Gott, Maria Paz Moreno, and Thérèse Migraine-George.

Thursday, September 27, 2018

11:30 am-12:30 pm, Langsam Library: "The Arabic Spice Road," presentation by UC Professors Frederic Cadora and Grace Thome, with thyme pies and rolled grape leaves snacks.

2:00 pm-3 pm, Langsam Library: "Tasting Power: The Bittersweet History of Chocolate," presentation by Prof. Maria Paz Moreno, with chocolate samples.

6 pm, Jean-Robert de Cavel’s French Crust Café and Bistro, a little piece of Paris, in Over-the-Rhine by Findlay Market: Casual conversation on French Restaurants and food degustation around a French Table with UC Prof. Anne-Marie Jézéquel.