GRADUATE STUDENT ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Graduate students in the Department of Geology must normally choose the members of their advisory committees before the end of their second quarter in residence. For PhD students, the committee consists of the major advisor and at least four other members. For MS students, the committee consists of the major advisor and at least two other members. You are expected independently to consult with potential committee members, including the academic advisor, and to confirm their willingness to serve on your committee. When your committee has been established, please complete the bottom part of this form and return it to Krista Smilek, the Graduate Coordinator.
