Overview

eProfessional makes managing your professional information simple and central. Generate CVs, Web pages, and other reports with the click of a mouse button. To log into eProfessional, visit http://webcentral.uc.edu/eProf/.

eProfessional consists of three main areas to enter:

1. Manage
   - Manage Professional Data
   - Choose your Delegates (if applicable)
   - Act on Behalf of (if applicable)

2. Report
   - View eProfessional Documents

3. Search

Area 1: Manage
Just as its name suggests, the “Manage” portion of eProfessional lets you manage your eProfessional information. After clicking on the “Manage” link, three options appear: "Manage Professional Data" and in some cases, you may see “Choose your Delegates” or “Act on Behalf of.”

The “Manage Professional Data” link is where you enter information into your eProfessional account, such as, publications, presentations, honors, research support and more.

When entering data in the “Manage” section, please remember to do the following:

- An Academic Term MUST be selected for each entry. If you do not select an academic term, the entry will not appear in your annual review.
- Enter pending and unfunded grants in the A&S Self Evaluation form's Research section (see page 24).
- You MUST select a Type when entering data in Publications, Presentations, Honors & Awards, Service, Creative Productions and Patents & Inventions.

“Choose your Delegates” lets eProfessional users select UC faculty or staff to act on their behalf. Delegates are able to modify and add information in eProfessional. If you do not have this option, contact micah.ovadia@uc.edu. “Act on Behalf of” will appear if you are someone's delegate. Click this option to edit the information of the account of which you are a delegate. Please note, delegates can not access or view someone else's annual self-evaluation form or faculty annual review page.

Area 2: Report
After entering in all of your information, you will want to see how eProfessional generates CVs, Web pages and other reports. The report area is where to go to see this information. From the homepage, after clicking on “Report,” one option appears: “View eProfessional Documents.” The possible documents to view will be two curricula vitae (one public, one private), two Web pages (one public, one private), the A&S Annual Faculty Review and other documents, depending upon your field. Each of these possible publications will be automatically generated from the data provided in the “Manage” area. You are also able to edit, view or download the reports.

When editing your Web pages, please remember the following:

- “Web Page” feeds into your public Web page on the A&S and department websites. If you hide something in “Web Page,” it will also be hidden on the A&S and department websites.
- “Web Page Private” feeds into your A&S Faculty Annual Review. If you hide something in “Web Page Private,” it will also be hidden in your A&S Faculty Annual Review.

To view your A&S Annual Faculty Review, click on the “View” icon in the A&S Annual Faculty Review row. Select the review period you would like to see and hit “Submit.” If data is missing from your annual review, go back to the “Manage” section and check if an academic term was selected.

Area 3: Search
There are two ways to search in eProfessional: by keyword and by name. The keyword search is a free text search of the public Web pages of eProfessional users. For the name search, simply type in the last name of the person you are looking for and with a few clicks, you can see their public Web page. Note, if a user has hidden some of their data entries in their public Web page, these items will not appear in a search. Only the public Web page is searched, not the private Web page or CVs.

eProfessional Reports
Department heads and annual review committees can access the faculty annual reviews at http://webcentral.uc.edu/eProfReports/. If you are unable to log in, please contact melanie.cannon@uc.edu or micah.ovadia@uc.edu.

eProfessional FAQs

Q. Where can I access eProfessional?
A. The web address for eProfessional is http://webcentral.uc.edu/eprof/. In the McMicken College website, faculty can access eProfessional on the Faculty & Staff page under the “Current Employees” section.

Q. How do I log into eProfessional?
A. Your username is typically the first 6 characters of your last name, the first character of your first name and the first character of your middle name. If you do not know your password, you can click on “Need Password” in the login box to have it emailed to you.

Q. Can I copy and paste my CV from Microsoft Word into eProfessional?
A. You can copy and paste individual entries from Microsoft Word into text boxes by first clicking in the text box and then clicking the “Paste from Word” icon.

Q. Why is my professional summary, research and practice interests and/or publications in different fonts on my web page?
A. This is typically caused by copying and pasting entries from Microsoft Word directly into text boxes in eProfessional without using the “Paste from Word” icon, as described above. The text boxes retained the original formatting done in Microsoft Word.

Q. Can I enter all of my publications at once?
A. No, you must submit one publication at a time. Please remember to also select a publication type and an academic term for each entry.

Q. How can I sort my publications?
A. You can sort your publications in the “Report” section by following these steps:
   1. Log into your eProfessional account.
   2. Click on “Report,” then “View eProfessional Documents.”
   3. Click on the Edit icon (the pencil) in the far right column of the Web Page row.
   4. Scroll down to Publications - Abbrev. There you can move individual publications by clicking [up] or [down] to the right of the publication. Or you can choose one of the following options from the drop-down menu at the top of the list to sort all publications at once:
      • Sort by Type, ascending
      • Sort by Type, descending
      • Sort by Entry, ascending
      • Sort by Entry, descending
      • Sort by Academic Term, ascending
      • Sort by Academic Term, descending
   Sort by Academic Term will sort publications by the year, however you must have an academic term selected for each publication (which is done in the Manage section).

Q. How do I add an academic term to my publications?
A. You may add an academic term in the by following these steps:
   1. Log into your eProfessional account.
   2. Click on “Manage,” then “Manage Professional Data.”
   3. Click on Publications - A rev.
   4. Click on the edit icon (the pencil) next to the publication you want to edit.
   5. Select an academic term.
   6. Click “Submit.”

Q. Why do some sections ask for a year and an academic term?
A. The year you enter in the “Date” field will appear with your entry in your CV and on your web page. The academic term you select is used for internal purposes and determines which data is being pulled for your annual review.

Q. Do I have to choose the exact academic term?
A. In the “Courses Taught” section, you do need to choose the exact academic term. For all other sections, you can choose any academic term as long as it is in the correct year. For example, if your department is doing annual reviews for the 2010 calendar year, you would need to select 2010W, 2010S, 2010U or 2010A. If your department is doing annual reviews for the 2009-2010 academic year, you would need to select 2009A, 2010W, 2010S or 2010U.
Q. Who can see my self evaluation?

A. Only you will be able to see your self evaluation in your eProfessional account. Delegates will not have access to it. Your department head and the dean will be able to see your self evaluation in the annual review reports.
