“Even at such a big school, personal attention and connections were never an issue, and the class sizes are big enough to offer diverse opinions but small enough for everyone to participate. I was in one of the first classes in the Comm co-op program, one of the major reasons I came to UC. I’m a hands-on learner, so applying what we learned in class to the workplace was a huge benefit for me. I’ve accepted a job at the American Israel Public Affairs Committee, which works with Congress to continue a strong US-Israeli relationship. One of the best parts of studying Communication is the ability to work in a wide range of fields after graduation.”
